Tells Republicans That Free Enterprise Is Key to Liberty and American Freedom

Schantz Says County Free of Debt in Talk at G.O.P. Convention

"As Republicans, we must increase our efforts to point out to our fellow-citizens the fallacy of demanding more and more from government and less and less from our own initiative," said Senator Arthur H. Wicks in opening the unofficial Ulster County Republican convention as chairman today.

In his remarks to the assembly of delegates from all sections of the county, the Republican majority leader in the state senate stressed that "we must combat with increased vigor the propaganda of Communists, left-wing college professors and others that we substitute for our American system of capitalism and free enterprise the European system of socialism and communism."

He quoted from the speech of James F. Byrnes, former Democratic secretary of state, repeating, "We should not have the federal government regimentering our lives from the cradle to the grave."

Applause rang through the hall as the senator concluded his talk and there was an equally vigorous response to the remarks of Cluettie P. Schantz, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, who devoted his speech to the economy plan of local Republican government.

"We get a dollar's worth for every dollar expended," he said about Republican administration in the county, which he pointed out is free of debt. And, he added, "That's why we are able to make advances each year in county services without putting a heavy tax burden on the people."

The two speeches are to be broadcast over WKNY tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Other speakers slated to address the convention are The Freeman's editor, J. H. Wicks, and Assemblyman John F. Wadlin of Highland.

The nomination for county treasurer was expected to go to former supervisor John T. Groves of Port Jervis.

Other nominations were expected to go to present incumbents of offices:

County judge—John M. Chisholm, Kingston.
District attorney—Louis G. Bruhn, Kingston.
Coroner—Arthur Chipp of Kerhonkson.

City Convention Monday
The unofficial convention of the party to nominate city officers is scheduled for Monday at 8 p. m. in the county court house on Wall street. Indications are that Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk will be chosen to run again for the position by one of our day and generation.

Frankly, some of them have disturbed me greatly because I do not think these changes augur well for us individually or as a nation.

My apprehension was increased when I read a speech made last month by a distinguished American at a celebration at Washington and Lee University, in Lexington, Va.

The distinguished citizen to whom I refer is the Hon. James F. Byrnes, former congressman, former United States senator, former justice of the United States Supreme Court and former secretary of state in President Truman's cabinet.

Drawing upon a background of experience in public affairs, he said that the position of the United States is not as good as it was in 1945. He said that the United States is not as good as it was in 1945.

In discussing some of the socialistic programs recommended by the President, Mr. Byrnes said in part: "In time of peace, we should not resort to deficit financing. Business is dependent upon the stability of the government's fiscal policy. When uncertainty (Continued on Page 10, Col. 3)

Taft Sees Truman Leading the U. S. To Dictatorship

Senator Says President Has Little Regard For Revenue From All the People

Columbus, O., July 16 (AP)—President Truman's program of huge government spending is leading the United States into a totalitarian state, Senator Robert A. Taft declared last night.

Mr. Truman, the Republican quarterback asserted, apparently has little regard for revenue provided by the people and the necessity of cutting government spending.

"Any president except one obsessed with the panacea of government spending would have cut his budget to meet the revenue provided by the people," Taft charged.

The Ohio Republican spoke to the nation in a radio address over the Mutual network from Columbus. His talk was a reply to the President's "fireside chat" Wednesday.

"Huge government spending has from the beginning been one of the essential features of Mr. Truman's program to follow the labor-socialized government of England into a totalitarian state, directing the lives and activities of its citizens," Taft declared.

"It is complete nonsense to say that the government cannot cut its expense. There is not a bureau in Washington which couldn't cut 10 per cent of its personnel and be more efficient."

"An average 10 per cent cut would save $1 billion."

Driver Forfeits Bail, Other Court Cases

Jack F. Lee, 55, of 1126 Wilson avenue, Taneek, N. J., who was arrested today at 2:10 a. m. on a charge of passing a red traffic light on Broadway near East Chester street, forfeited his bail of $5 when he failed to appear in city court.

Lee was arrested this morning by Officers Walter V. Steenburgh and Charles Hoehing, police said.

In other court cases today before City Judge Raymond Mino, Vernon Winne, 44, 128 Franklin street, was sentenced to two days in the city jail following his arrest on a public intoxication charge. Police said Winne was arrested Friday about 11:40 p. m.

Charles Sherron, Poughkeepsie, also arrested Friday night on a public intoxication charge, received a suspended sentence of 10 days.

County Jail Clean, Orderly, Passes Inspection by Official

In a report on an inspection of the Ulster county jail made by Inspector George F. Venter, Jr., on June 15, last, the "exceptionally high degree of cleanliness and order" which prevailed throughout the jail on the date of the inspection is commented upon.

The report also comments upon the recently installed sanitary plumbing fixtures which have been installed in the cells to replace the old toilet bowls which had been under criticism for several years.

"Replacement of the outmoded toilet bowls has long been recommended by the Commission, and the present administration is to be commended for carrying the project to its completion at this time," the report states.

The report of the inspection has been approved by the state commissioner of correction.

After reviewing the custodial staff which consists of the undersheriff, three jailers, three assistant jailers, three deputies, a matron, an identification officer, a janitor and a cook, the report states that the staff works on an eight hour shift plan with a day off each week and each tour of duty is arranged so there will be three members on active duty at all times.

At the time of inspection there were 27 male adults, six male minors and two female adults in jail, a total of 35 prisoners. The greatest number of prisoners during the year in jail, was on December 31, 1948, when there were 43 males and four females. The lowest number was 16 males and one female, the average number of prisoners is 31 males and two females.

Prisoners were properly classified "except for the male minors who, because of the rather limited number of separate cell sections, had to be confined in the same section," the report states.

A. F. Whitney, 76, Head of Railroad Trainmen, Dead

Friend and Sometimes Bitter Opponent of Presidents, Died of Heart Attack

Cleveland, July 16 (AP)—Alexander F. Whitney, 76, fiery labor leader who was the friend and sometimes bitter opponent of presidents of the United States, died at his home early today of a heart attack.

The peppy president of the 215,000-man Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen was stricken after spending a full day at his office and an evening with friends at his bay village home.

His wife, Dorothy Mae Whitney, said she heard him call out that he was not feeling well early this morning. She telephoned for help, returned to his side and found him dead.

Outspoken for the policies of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, Whitney served on several national committees, including the one which guided the annual President's birthday balls for infantile paralysis victims. He also served on the seven-member United States delegation to the Inter-American peace conference at Buenos Aires in 1936.

It was in recent years in relations with President Truman, however, that Whitney came into breakfast table-view of the American public.

The crippling railway strike of May, 1946, was in full swing. All but 100 of 17,500 of the nation's scheduled passenger trains and 940 of 24,000 freight trains were out of operation for a 48-hour period.

President Truman called Whitney and Alvanley Johnston, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, to the White House for a closed conference.

The labor chiefs called their men back to work, but soon after Whitney shouted "double cross."

He said they were induced by the President to postpone the strike for five days on the promise that an agreement would be forthcoming from railroad management.

Instead, he said, the brotherhood officials were given the run-around.

President Truman asked Congress for an automatic draft for striking railroads.

Whitney soon after announced plans to use the $47,000,000 Brotherhood treasury to defeat Truman in the election of 1948.

A reconciliation between the labor leader and the President followed, however.

Besides his wife, Whitney is survived by two sons and a daughter.

The brotherhood's president since 1928, Whitney was last elected to a four-year term in Oct. 1946.

Czech Reds Call for Liquidation 'of Our Enemy, the Church'

Draft New Church Laws Which Will Give Government Stranglehold Rule Over All Denominations; Charges Beran With Treason

Prague, Czechoslovakia, July 16 (AP)—A Czech Communist party manifesto called today for liquidation of "our greatest enemy the church."

The manifesto came on the heels of a statement by Justice Minister Alexei Copicke that anyone who moves to put into effect the excommunication of Communists decreed by the Vatican will be arrested and tried for treason.

(A Vatican informant said excommunication requires no enforcement, that its acts upon the guilty in the secrecy of their own consciences.)

The party manifesto declared it was imperative to "liquidate the enemy" in order to complete the communization of the country. This, it said, did not mean liquidating the Roman Catholic Church entirely, but did mean liquidation of church order. Another point the manifesto spoke of liquidating "the church question."

It said this move to crush church authority was especially necessary because of the hierarchy's hold on the peasantry, which must be broken to make way for the collectivization of farms.

It called for the building of a wall between the bishops and the people. It urged a campaign to turn the people against the Catholic primate, Archbishop Josef Beran, now a semi-captive of the government.

In a fiery speech yesterday Copicke blasted Archbishop Beran as a traitor and announced that a law had been drafted to take control of the church.

The justice minister is listed as a Catholic in the archives of the National Parliament. He is one of three ministers in the national government listed officially as professing to be Catholics, according to the secretary of the parliamentary archives. The others are Foreign Trade Minister Antonin Gregor and Defense Minister Gen. Ludvik Svoboda.

In the fast-moving church-state conflict government leaders have: 1—Publicly accused the Catholic hierarchy led by Archbishop Josef Beran of treason against the state. 2—Threatened that anyone who tries to carry out in this country the Pope's orders for excommunication of Communists will be prosecuted for treason. 3—Announced the drafting of a bill for control of churches which will give the government a stranglehold rule over all denominations, including prior approval of any pastor or high church official, on political grounds. The bill would make any pastor, priest or high church official as much a government employee as any bureaucrat.

Two Injured When Auto Overturns

Two New York Men Are Hurt in Mishap on Route 28 Friday

Morris Schoenfeld, 70, dentist of 140 West 79th street, New York, and Marcel Hirsch, 59, of 20 West 72nd street, New York, were injured about 8:30 o'clock when the car operated by Schoenfeld overturned as it was making the turn from Route 28 into the West Hurley-Woodstock road. The Studebaker car was badly damaged.

Both the injured sustained contusions and abrasions of the head and X-rays will be taken to determine the extent of the injuries.

Deputy Sheriff William A. Frost made an investigation.

According to the report filed, Mr. Schoenfeld was en route to Woodstock where he had been a visitor several times. He became confused over the intersection of the new road and the Woodstock out-off and attempted to turn into the Woodstock road at 40 miles an hour. His car overturned on the lawn of Miss M. Curley after damaging concrete posts. There was considerable damage to the lawn and shrubbery when the car failed to make the turn.

Score of Foreigners Attached to U.N. in New York Under Investigation

By JOHN CHADWICK
Washington, July 16 (AP)—A Senate committee pressed the State Department today for information on how many aliens might be using diplomatic immunity as a shield for subversive activities.

Assistant Secretary of State John E. Purroy was called for testimony on the subject. Representatives of foreign governments are usually accorded freedom from arrest, taxes and customs charges, and submission to police regulations.

Attorney General Tom Clark revealed yesterday that more than a score of foreigners attached to the United Nations headquarters in New York are under investigation by the Justice Department.

His disclosure came in answer to questions by a Senate judiciary subcommittee on the extent aliens in this country representing foreign governments or international organizations are engaged in spying or other subversive work.

Similar questions were submitted to Purroy, who has charge of administration for the State Department, in advance of his testimony (9 a. m., E.S.T.). An official of the Central Intelligence Agency also was called as a witness.

Clark told the committee his department currently is making (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

8 City Churches Unite for Funds

Will Use Popular Plan to Raise Individual Year Budgets

At a meeting in the Y.M.C.A. eight local Protestant churches decided to join for a United Church Canvass to be held in November. The United Church Canvass is a plan, sponsored by more than 18 religious groups in the United States, whereby the churches of a community unite for the purpose of raising their individual budgets.

Several hundred cities adopted this plan last year, and in all cases it was received with enthusiasm by the people and churches.

Local churches which will be cooperating in the United Canvass consist of the Ponckhockie Congregational Church, the Reformed Church of the Comforter, the First Reformed Church, the First Presbyterian Church, Trinity Lutheran Church, Roundout Presbyterian Church, Baptist Church, and the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer.

Several other churches of the community will probably decide to participate in the near future. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Pine Hill Bus May Run to Oneonta

No Opposition Is Given to Through Service at Hearing

Lack of opposition at a Public Service Commission hearing in Oneonta early this week opens the way for a possible through service from Kingston to Oneonta by the Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Corp., a spokesman for the bus company said today.

The company plans to purchase the Green Lines which now operate a service between Margaretville and Oneonta, and is awaiting word from the commission to complete plans for buying the other bus line and starting the new service.

The Kingston-to-Oneonta run would be through Andes and Delhi and would be slightly more than 50 miles.

It is tentatively planned to operate several buses daily and it is expected that details will be announced following approval of the Public Service Commission. A light truck package service is also planned, and the line is considering a shuttle run from Margaretville to Roxbury, covering Halcottville and Kelly Corners.

Buffalo Man Is Released on Bail On Forgery Charge

B. L. Moore Allegedly Tried to Pass Bogus Check at Elston's Sport Shop

Bevan L. Moore, 24, of 547 West Ferry street, Buffalo, who allegedly tried to pass a bogus check at Elston's Sport Shop, 260 Fair street, early Friday afternoon, was released on $500 bail today when he appeared in city court.

City Judge Raymond Mino agreed to an adjournment until Monday on a request by Thomas Saccamano, attorney for Moore.

Moore, the police said, was arrested at police headquarters Friday night by Captain William Roedel on a charge of forgery, second degree, after he was apprehended in the uptown section of the city by Patrolman Gerald Every.

Every, alerted concerning Moore's whereabouts after he had left the uptown store, spotted the man's car on Wall street, near John street last night and immediately notified headquarters.

Prior to Moore's capture by quick-thinking Every, a teletype message had been sent giving Moore's description. It was assumed by local authorities that Moore had left the city for a time Friday and then had returned.

Kingston police were set out on Moore's tracks immediately after his attempt to pass a bogus check of $200.

According to the police report, Moore was at the uptown store Friday afternoon and tried to pass the bad check drawn on the account of one Joseph Pembroke of Saugerties from a local bank.

Walter Elston, manager of the store, suspicious of the size of the check, notified the police after Moore had left his store.

The sporting goods store manager said he became particularly suspicious of Moore when the Buffalo man showed interest in buying two rifles of a certain make.

Elston checked with the uptown bank and learned that there was no such account in the name of Pembroke, the Saugerties man.

Patient Injures Doctor
Wayland, N. Y., July 16 (AP)—Dr. Joseph J. Zane, 36, a surgeon, was injured critically yesterday when he was struck by a patient coming out of an anesthetic. The blow knocked Dr. Zane off balance and he struck his head against a table in the operating room in Wayland Hospital. Dr. Zane drove home and collapsed as he was leaving his car.

Crash at Stone Ridge
Louis, Culmore, 35, of 61 Yonance street, Clifton, N. J., and Harry M. Green of Stone Ridge escaped injury but both the Culmore and Green cars were damaged in an accident at 8:30 p. m. Friday at Stone Ridge. Both cars were traveling west on Route 209 when Culmore attempted to pass another vehicle traveling west. Green started to pass the cars at the same time. The collision ensued, according to a report filed with the sheriff.

Local School Boards Get Job Of Weeding Out Subversives

Albany, N. Y., July 16 (AP)—Local school boards were charged today with the task of weeding out and barring members of subversive organizations from jobs in the state's public school system.

The Board of Regents, which placed the responsibility in the hands of local boards, cautioned that local authorities must guard against "witch hunts" while enforcing the Regents' new regulations under the 1949 Feinberg Law.

The Regents unanimously adopted the new rules at their regular meeting yesterday.

Their action was the first step in implementing the Feinberg Law, designed to tighten present laws against employment of persons in the school system who advocate the forcible overthrow of the U. S. Government. Sponsors said the law was aimed at Communists.

Under the law, the Regents are directed to make a list of organizations they consider subversive and to draw up regulations making membership in such groups a bar to school employment.

The Regents issued the regulations a day after a tumultuous five-hour hearing Thursday at which representatives of four groups labeled subversive by the U. S. Attorney General attacked the Feinberg Law as unconstitutional.

Publication of a list of what the Regents consider subversive organizations was delayed until at least September 16, date of the board's next meeting. Organizations have been given two weeks to submit briefs to the Regents to present arguments why they should not be included on the list.

The new regulations provide for an annual written report of individual school boards on every teacher and other employees in each school system. The local boards were ordered by the Regents to appoint "one or more of the officials in their employ" to make such reports.

The boards will conduct their own investigations of school superintendents and other officials responsible directly to the board. The reports must be submitted to each board before October 31 of this year, and not later than Sept. 30 each year thereafter. They must state either that there is no evidence that each teacher is subversive or that such evidence has been received.

The Regents ordered that the local school board, upon receiving a report of subversive teacher, must prefer formal charges or reject the investigator's report within 90 days.

Valuable Articles Stolen From Auto In Parking Lot

Theft From Car Owned By Long Island Man; Entry Made Through Ventilator Window

Investigation by local police was still underway today in search of several valuable articles allegedly taken from a car parked in the Main street parking lot Thursday night.

Although no exact amount was reported in the alleged theft, the police summary of missing articles was placed in the neighborhood of about $500.

The theft, police said, took place in a car owned by Henry Lax of Beach street, Lake Ronkonkoma, L. I., which was parked in the uptown lot about midnight Thursday. Later, Lax and his wife went to the Kirtland Hotel to remain overnight.

Lax reported the theft to the police about 12:30 p. m. on Friday.

According to the report, entry was made into the Lax car by forcing one of the wing ventilator windows.

Detectives from the local force were immediately assigned to investigate the case.

The following articles were reported missing by Lax: Two valises, one a maroon leather bag and one tan canvas bag with brown binding. One valise contained a quantity of ladies' lingerie, all new, and worth about $200.

A jewelry box containing a Lament wrist watch with leather strap and copper face, a string of pearls, two silver pins, one in the form of a frog and the other in the form of a lizard. Also a German silver cross and a chain, four pairs of earrings, a gold bracelet, a gold antique watch chain and various other articles of costume jewelry.

Lax, the police said, valued these articles, exclusive of the antique chain, at about $150.

Also taken from the Long Island car was a Zeiss folding camera valued at $75.

The new rules also provide that a complete investigation must be made of each candidate for a public school position prior to his appointment.

Each board must submit a detailed report to the state education commissioner before Dec. 1 annually.

That report must list the number of school employees against (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Experts in Economics and Labor Relations Appointed to Solve Nation's Problem

Truman Victor
President Can By-pass Taft-Hartley in Duel With Crisis

Washington, July 16 (AP)—A presidential fact-finding board in the steel labor dispute took over one of the nation's biggest economic questions today—should there be a "fourth round" of post-war wage increases?

The three-man board was appointed last night by President Truman to end a tense 72 hours speculation over whether the steel industry, or a big part of it, would be shut down indefinitely today.

The board's recommendations on wages, pensions and insurance issues in the steel dispute won't be binding on either the industry or Philip Murray's C.I.O. steelworkers. But the White House hopes it will point the way to a settlement.

And how the steelworkers fare on their fourth round demands may well become a pattern for all industry. It has happened that way before.

A million steelworkers called off plans for a walkout to begin last midnight when the industry's giants, including U. S. Steel, reluctantly gave in to the administration's 60-day strike truce plan.

Mr. Truman appointed Carroll R. Daugherty, Northwestern University professor of business economics, as chairman of the impartial panel. Serving with him will be Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, former White House adviser, and David L. Cole, Patterson, N. J., labor relations expert who has served on other Truman labor fact-finding boards.

Beats Industrial Giants
The President, relieved by acceptance of his peace plan by big and little steel firms, won something in his exchange with the industrial giants. He was able to by-pass the Taft-Hartley Act in dealing with a major labor crisis. Friends of the labor statute were not too happy about that, but unions took comfort because of their iron-clad checks in attempts to repeat the act.

Mr. Truman insisted on a 60-day strike truce beginning today and Murray quickly consented for the union. Most of the steel companies held back until a few hours before the strike deadline.

Only one previous U. S. strike could have matched it. That was the nation's walkout of January-February, 1946, over the "first round" of wage increases following the war. That resulted in an 18 1/2-cent hourly pay boost and a $5 hike in the cost of a ton of raw steel.

The three-man board has until August 30 to make its settlement recommendations to the White (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4)

In a statement, the Regents said the forthcoming list of groups they consider subversive would be amended or revised from time to time.

The Regents said that evidence of membership in organizations on the list would be presumptive evidence that membership has continued "in the absence of a showing that such membership has been terminated in good faith."

"At the same time," he declared, "they protect teachers and other employees against unfair accusation."

The law was sponsored by Benjamin F. Feinberg, former Senate majority leader who resigned as permanent chairman of the Public Service Commission.

Supervision of prisoners who are working outside the jail is good and the report comments upon the handling of money and valuables of prisoners.

Valuables Protected "Procedures for the handling of money and valuables are satisfactory and in general are as detailed in the last report of inspection. Since that time, a metal storage cabinet with small individual compartments has been placed in the office for the storage of money taken from prisoners on admission. It is an efficient arrangement, more elaborate than usually provided in county jails for such purposes."

The report refers to the break July 11, 1948, when five prisoners escaped after assaulting jail employees. The escape was made possible through "disregard of certain of the sheriff's orders by two members of the staff, who thereafter were subjected to disciplinary action."

Jailer's records were checked and found to be up-to-date and in good order, the report states, and comment was also made on the medical supervision and the fact that during the time the inspection was being made the jail physician was observed in the jail administering to prisoners who had expressed a desire to see him.

Saveskie, Former Resident, Invents New Checkerboard

New Idea Evolved From Problem With Game During Recent War; Other Inventions

Peter N. Saveskie, formerly of 142 Wilbur avenue who now resides in Tompkinsville, S. I., has come up with a new invention which may prove to be a boon to checker fans.

The new idea, of which the patent is pending at the present time, is known as Roto-Check, and a similar chessboard, doubled as Roto-Chess. Both ideas of Saveskie have been assigned to a Manhattan manufacturer on a royalty basis.

Saveskie, a graduate of Kingston High School, is now employed as a radio engineer with the Voice of America stations in Manhattan. During the war, he was a bombardier in the air corps. Prior to his induction, he was engineer at Station WABY in Albany.

The Staten Island man's new invention is new in the field, as it comes up with a solution for putting checkerboards away without disturbing the status of the game and from which the men cannot be spilled.

The story of Saveskie's recent invention was published in the June issue of Inventor and Gadgeteer magazine. Another story will be published in a future issue of the Chess Review magazine.

He got the idea for the new Roto-Check while working as a bombardier during World War 2.

"We used to play checkers in the 8th Air Force," Saveskie said, "but as soon as the game got going, the signal would come for a takeoff and we had to put the game away. We never finished. Once in a while, too, someone would bump the board and the men would go all over the floor." Saveskie's invention works along this pattern:

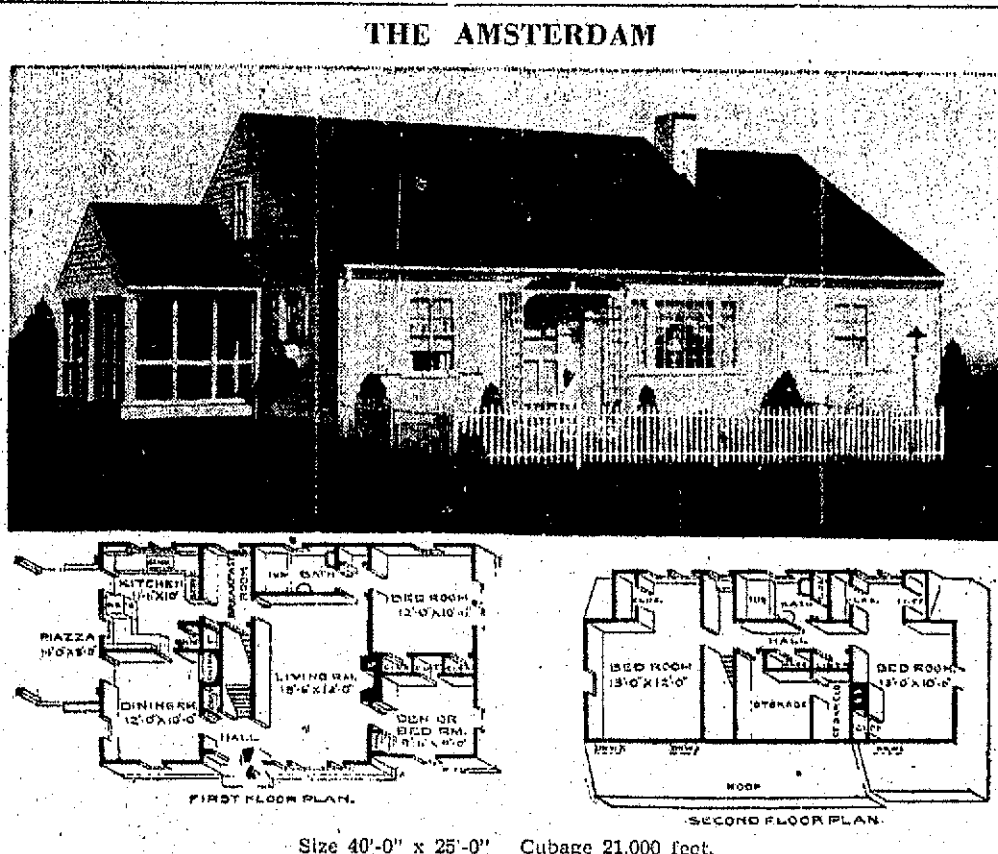

Under each playing square is a disc with figures on it of a red man, a red king, a black man and a black king, as well as a space to denote that the square is empty. A tiny spindle revolves the disc as necessary, so that whatever is supposed to occupy the space at the time shows through a hole in the square. The chessboard is similar, only it has more figures on the disc.

The Roto-Check and Roto-Chess ideas are not the only ideas of Saveskie who is married and has two sons.

Two years ago twin sons, Gregor and Andrei, were born and feeding time became a problem so Saveskie went to work and devised a special feeder. He took a metal cookie squeezer and attached a spoon to its end. That way, Mrs. Saveskie could squeeze out a spoonful of food at a time and give it to one of the boys.

Besides all this, he has another gadget, a soldering iron equipped with an extension that makes it like a pair of pliers.

The young inventor married Miss Patricia Harry of Kingston four years ago.

Porch Wing May Be Added if Lot Has 60-Foot Frontage

With its trim, low lines and decorative features—including a low, white picket fence and a lamp post, "The Amsterdam," the Home of the Week Plan Service, is an attractive house and it can be built either as a 1-story or 2-story dwelling.

The long shed dormer on the rear roof which would be necessary if rooms are to be furnished on the second floor would not change the appearance of the front of the house.

The dimensions of the main dwelling are 40x25 feet; its cubic content is 21,000 feet. The porch wing at the left side of the house—which can be screened in for summer and glazed for winter use—adds an additional eight feet to the length of the structure, so a lot with at least a 60-foot frontage would be required.

Front Door In Setback
As the floor plan shows, the front door is placed in a setback. This, supplemented by the protective canopy with trellised supports, offers weather protection to callers. Use of a Dutch door at this entrance is suggested.

A small entrance hall with coat closet, with the stairway to second floor or attic closed off behind a mirrored door, is located between the living room, at the right, and the dining room, at the left. Another small hall is at the far end of the living room, connecting the bathroom with the larger of the first floor bedrooms. A storage closet opens off this hall.

If the owners wish, the breakfast room shown in the plan could be eliminated and the bathroom relocated in this space. This would permit full depth for the living room. A picture window matching that on the front of the house would then be placed in the rear wall of the room.

Both the first floor bedrooms have good closet facilities and windows on two exposures for cross lighting and ventilation.

Breakfast Room Well Located
The breakfast room, just off the kitchen through an open arch, has a window that looks out on the back yard. A linen closet, and a door closing off the cellar stairway, take up the wall space opposite this window.

The kitchen, which has a broom closet back of the swinging door to the dining room is planned to provide a generous amount of working counter space and wall cabinets. A glazed door opens from the kitchen to the piazza, thence to the rear yard.

The dining room also has a glazed door to the piazza. The small window on this same side of the room is purposely placed high, so that a sideboard may go under it. On the outside, this window is nicely finished off with small shutters and a flower box. A built-in china closet is a detail in the dining room.

The full basement would have laundry equipment located under kitchen or bathroom; furnace equipment under the back bedroom. This would leave the rest of the cellar to be partitioned off to suit the owners' interests or needs.

Insulation Needs
If this house is to be built as a 2-story dwelling, the roof should be insulated. If only the first floor is to be constructed, then insulation should go over all first floor ceilings.

The second floor plan calls for two large bedrooms, a bathroom, and a large storage room with a cedar-lined storage closet. An L-shaped hall at the head of the stairs closes all rooms on this floor and contains linen and storage closets. The bathroom also has its own storage closet, and additional storage space is provided through built-in drawers under the eaves in both bedrooms.

Complete plans and specifications for this "Home of the Week," or any other design of this series, are available at a moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a 5-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Suggestions on How to Clean Stone Fireplace

Cleaning a stone fireplace that has become smoked on the outside is a complicated process, but well worth the trouble.

Dissolve four ounces of high-grade yellow laundry soap, cut in thin chips, in enough hot water to make one quart of soft soap. When the mixture is cold, apply additional heat to the mixture if necessary to dissolve the soap. Stir one-half pound of powdered pumice stone and one-fourth of a pint of household ammonia into the quart of soft soap.

Mix thoroughly and, after removing as much of the smoke as possible by brushing with a good stiff brush, apply a coat of the mixture to the surface with a brush. If the mixture is too thick, add water until it can be spread easily.

After allowing the mixture to remain on the surface for 15 to 30 minutes, take a scrubbing brush and a pail of warm water and a sponge and scrub the surface thoroughly. Then wash the soapy mixture from the surface with water and a sponge and rinse the surface with plenty of water.

Good Paint Remedies Dark Streaks on Siding

Those annoying dark streaks that have appeared on the light colored siding of so many homes during the recent years can now be eliminated and prevented from returning.

They were generally caused by poor quality wartime paint on window frames, screens and other trim. Because of wartime restrictions on oil and other top-quality materials, the pigments could not be held permanently. Rains gradually washed out the color and spread it down the side of the house.

First-grade paint is available again. Hence, if trim is repainted and the entire house given a coat of paint with a good oil base, the stained surfaces will be concealed and in most cases the difficulty will not recur.

Plaster Should Be Left Unpapered First Year

Some builders advise waiting at least a year before papering over new plaster. Fresh lime in the plaster is likely to work through the paper and cause stains. Plaster walls may also crack in the drying process. The wise course is to leave the walls unfinished the first year or paint them with a tinted casein paint, which may be papered over later.

Yes, THE RAINS CAME last Sunday at TWIN LAKES and we were glad and we were sorry. We were glad for the sake of our neighboring farmers, and we were sorry because despite the rains so many future cottage site owners came to buy lots in the rain and we did not have enough salesmen to take care of them. We hope to give you more time this week-end. Come out Saturday or Sunday, in fact come out any day. Every lot has a right of way to beach. Come on out to this scenic spot beside this crystal pure lake. Every lot has a wide black top road in front of it. Electricity guaranteed to each lot as needed. Wall or Fence Gives Home Added Privacy

By building a wall or fence along the lot lines or by planting a hedge, privacy as well as appearance of a house may be enhanced.

The type of architecture of the house largely governs the kind of enclosure used. Colonial cottages and frame houses in general call for a white picket fence or a neatly clipped hedge. The fences may be selected from many styles ranging from the least expensive type with plain flat railings to the more ornate variety with rounded pickets and fanlight gate.

Masonry walls best frame brick dwellings of Georgian architecture. These may be any height desired, according to conditions. If the house is situated on a busy street and complete privacy is desired, a high wall that completely shuts out the view from the street is suggested. Under other conditions, a lower wall is usually desirable. A stone wall best complements Spanish or Mediterranean architecture, although hedges of various types may also be used effectively.

News Cars May Have Outgrown Old Garages

Automobiles are stretching out and any householder who figures on buying a new one this spring would do well to go over the old garage with a yardstick. Otherwise he may find himself in difficulties when he tries to put the 1948 model under cover. Most automobiles now are nearly seven feet wide and 20 feet long and a lot of old garages are not large enough to accommodate them.

Hinges on Door

No matter how good a door or its frame, it will last longer and hang better without warping, sticking, sagging or jamming if three hinges are used instead of two. The third hinge helps ease strain, align the door and balance its weight, making it easier acting, better in performance.

Taft Sees Truman

duction would balance the budget.
Taft warned that our economy could be seriously endangered by an increase in taxes.
"We have reached a point where increased taxation will prevent the prosperity necessary to produce the taxes," he asserted.
"We have come to a point where we must determine the limit of our tax burden and then cut expenses to meet our income and pay something on the national debt. Every individual in this country has to give up things he would like to have because he hasn't got the money to pay for them. The government is no different from any individual."
The senator tied in his attack on the President's budget with a defense of the 81st Congress. The Congress, he said, "is not a negative Congress although its great merit will be that it has prevented changes which would affect the whole nature of our government and the character of the American republic."

Czech Reds...

ing on their own while the controlled press blasted Catholic leadership in the embittered state-church fight, government spokesmen unleashed several broadsides yesterday.
The heaviest blast was fired by Minister of Justice Alexei Cepicka before the Central Action Committee of the National Front.
In a fiery address he charged Beran and his bishops with treason, and trying to provoke revolt in Czechoslovakia.
Cepicka accused the Vatican's diplomatic representation here with masterminding plots against Czechoslovakia and called Pope Pius XII the "chief enemy of our state."
He declared the papal charge of "heresy" against Genaro Varnice had been the object of a "forced recall in shame" because he had been an agent sent to inspire a revolt against the Communist government.
Cepicka gave no indication if or when the government might jail Archbishop Beran. The primate has been under close police watch in his palace for nearly a month since Communist hecklers hooted him out of St. Vitus Cathedral during a sermon criticizing the government.
Other priests and laymen, however, have been jailed, the justice minister said, when "caught in punishable activities." These included the transference of priests under disciplinary orders.
Cepicka admitted certain state controls had been clamped on Catholic churches and schools. He claimed they were necessary to "stop sabotaging activities" or "the education of children in 'anti-people's democratic fashion.'"
He declared religious freedom existed here and that all the government desired of the bishops was an oath of loyalty to the government.
Cepicka asserted a statement by Beran that a pledge of loyalty was contained in the bishops' oath of office was a "gross lie."
In its draft of the new church control law the government appeared to have about everything sewed up—prior approval of pastors, priests and bishops on political grounds to payment of their pensions.
In addition the churches would be forced to submit—under penalties—inventories of all their properties, incomes and budgets. Churchmen have claimed such inventories were preparatory to confiscation.
A Czech Communist party circular reached western hands today.
It called for "no compromise" in the fight against "our greatest enemy the church."
The party manifesto declared it was imperative to "liquidate the enemy" in order to complete the communization of the country, especially the collectivization of the farms over the protests of peasants.
The circular laid down these directives:
1. Sever all ties between the Czech Catholic hierarchy and the Vatican.
2. "Build a wall" between the Czech bishops and archbishops and the people.
3. Turn the people against Archbishop Beran primate of Czechoslovakia.

Two-Car Crash at

Rondout Bridge

No personal injuries were reported to the local police early Friday night following a two-car collision near the Rondout Creek bridge near Albee street.
The cars were operated by Joseph Love of 445 Main street, Hartford, Conn., and Harriet Lenahan of 15 Bondard avenue, Newburgh, the police revealed.
Police said both parties were insured and that a mutual settlement of damages would be made.
According to the police report, the Lenahan and Love vehicles, proceeding north over the bridge, collided when the traffic light changed.

Launch Defense Of District Title Against Sharon

The Old Capital Motors Junior baseball squad, representing Kingston Post in the national American Legion Junior tournament, will defend its district championship against Sharon Springs, N. Y., on Monday, July 18, at Hawkins Stadium in Albany.

The contest is scheduled for 4:30 p. m.

The Old Capital squad is again sponsored by George Shively, local Ford dealer, and coached by Tommy Maines, veteran baseball star.

Recessing Hurler
Kingston is pinning its hopes on the good right arm of Lou Resig, young star of Wiltyck Motors in the City League and a graduate of the K.A.A. baseball program.

Henry Levy, last year's ace, Jerry Bechtold and Joe Pecora also are available for mound duty. Lefty Ted Schwamb, the Kingston High School southpaw, is listed as a right fielder but may see action on the mound.

The Kingston juniors must win three games in Albany in order to retain their title.

Alligator House Pet

Budapest, Hungary (AP)—Dogs and other common domestic animals in Hungary take a lax—but not the alligator owned by László Laphy of Pecs. The alligator was just a few inches long when he arrived from South America a little over 10 years ago. Now he measures around seven feet. He eats three whittings a week, but slept nine months last winter. All the alligator likes a comfortable armchair in the Laphy home, and his master says, "Dogs and sincere friendship binds us together."

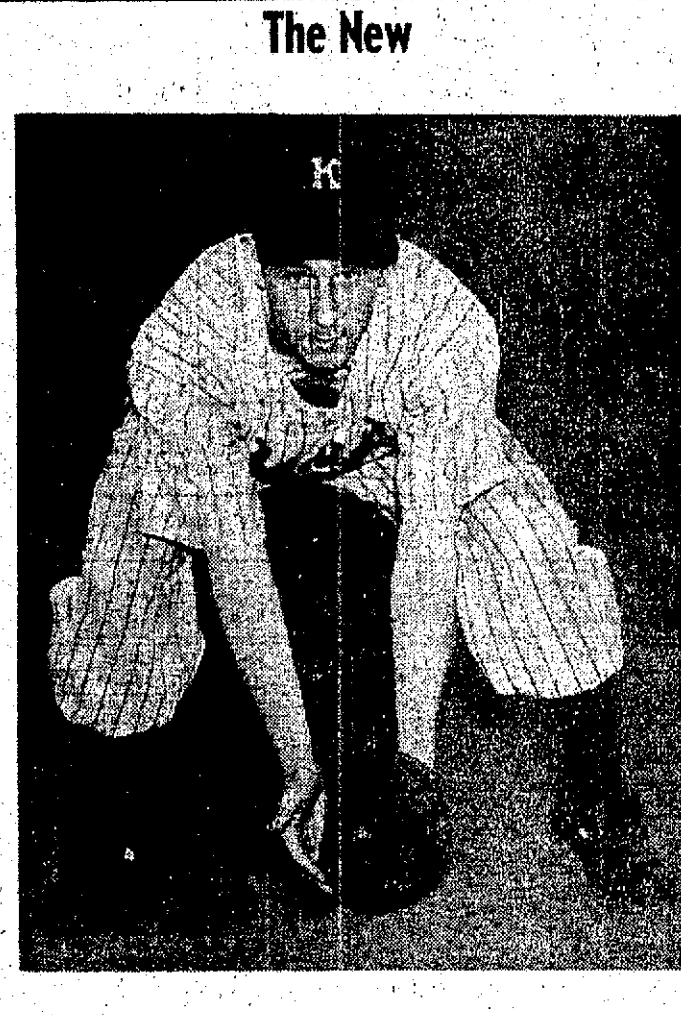

"Yucks" is a cry of excitement or exultation, and is used as a cry of encouragement to foxhounds.

Billows In Finals

Syracuse, N. Y., July 16 (AP)—Poughkeepsie's Ray Billows went for his sixth New York amateur golf crown today by taking on Syracuse city champion John Ward in the state tourney's 36-hole final round.

Billows made the most of a lucky break yesterday to achieve the finals at the Syracuse Yacht and Country Club's course.

In a semi-final match, Tony Langan of Syracuse led Billows 1-up at the 16th green. Langan, getting set to putt, accidentally touched the ball with his foot and lost the par-five hole, six strokes to five.

The pair halved the next hole and Billows won on the 18th. Billows earlier in the day had eliminated O. M. Masters of Binghamton, 4 and 3, in the quarter finals, and 4 and 3, in the quarter finals, and 4 and 3, in the quarter finals.

Billows ousted defending champion Sam Uzzetta of Rochester, 4 and 3, and then bested Lloyd Ribner of White Plains, 3 and 2. Ribner had won his quarter-final match from Alex Bunazek of Syracuse, 1 up.

Nelson's Pros Play Ryder Cup Stars

Pittsburgh, July 16 (AP)—Byron Nelson, the retired golf champion, thinks he can pick a pro squad that will give the United States Ryder Cup team a real rattle in an exhibition series.

The Ryder Cup team, of course, won't be officially named until after the $16,000 Dapper Dan Open ends tomorrow. But arrangements already have been made for the cuppers to play Nelson's team at Boston, August 27 and 28, just before they sail for England.

This is a bit of added incentive for the leaders in the field which starts the second half of the Dapper Dan today. Nine golfers, four of whom are here, are sure of their places on the team. The tenth will have to earn it today and tomorrow and right now Dick Metz looks like a good bet.

Metz, the chunky Virginia Beach, Va., pro, shot a fine 67 yesterday to take second place three strokes behind Sammy Snead. Slamming Sammy, drawing almost the entire gallery during the rain-swept second round, fired his second straight 67 for a 134 total that is just ten strokes under par. Metz had rounds of 70-67.

One stroke further back came Lloyd Mangrum, leader in the Ryder Cup point scoring, and two players who don't figure in the competition, Gene Webb of Clayton, Mo., and Otto Greiner of Baltimore.

Great Variety Caught

Approximately one hundred and thirty different species of fish are captured commercially in waters adjacent to the United States and Alaska, reports the National Wildlife Federation.

Has Many Enemies

Sixty-six species of birds are enemies of the cotton boll weevil, reports the National Wildlife Federation. Among these are the Bobwhite Quail, Red-headed Woodpecker, Bluejay, and the Oriole.

Chez Emile Blasts Gulfmen, 11-4 As Joe Jordan Twirls 4-Hitter

In the ROUGH — By CHARLES J. TIANO Sports Editor

Bagatelles:

The developments of the past 24 hours notwithstanding, ex-manager Julie Laviano's peremptory removal of catcher Jose Abreu from the Colonial-Stanford game Thursday night was a justifiable, if somewhat jolting, maneuver. Perhaps Laviano acted brusquely in unfrocking Senor Abreu before the crowd, but the pudgy catcher had it coming to him. The jolly Senor has a distinct aversion to sliding and, when he practically walked into second base Wednesday night on an attempted steal, it wasn't the first time he slid away from hitting the dirt. It has happened several times in the past.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Ralph Gardner, the man we like every day in the year except March 15, is one of the fellows beating drums for a sizable fund to send Leon Randall to the Junior National golf tournament in Houston on August 2. Nick Kaslich, the pocket billiard tycoon of Wall street, smiles, this wild when he reads about Carl "Butch" Sawatski's 20 home runs in the Southern Association. The former fire plug receiver of the Bloomington, Ill., club of the 1947 North Atlantic League is Chicago Cub property and comes up to stay in the big show next spring. And Mr. Kaslich thinks the sun rises and sets on those Cubs. This must be a New York Giant town. Everybody and everybody else's uncle in Kingston will be at the Giant-Cardinal doubleheader Sunday at the Polo Grounds. The interest in Clark Munn, ex-K.H.S. itching great is 9 won and 2 lost for Springfield in the Ohio State Class D League. The Walden Maroons, having quit Tuesday night ball, are about ready for the semi-pro gas pipe.

The Nineteenth Hole:

Bob Herzog reports that vacationing linksmen aren't exactly swarming over Cape Cod these days. Supreme Court Justice Harry Blackie, a true blue National Leaguer, expresses the opinion that there is no logical way of halting the annual All-Star folderol. Except, perhaps, designating the National as a minor league, thereby removing any justification for the yearly cakewalk of Joe DiMaggio and company. A new twist in golf tournaments was effected Thursday when Louis G. Bruhn, the D.A., hauled Father Henry Herdigen, the golfing padre, out of the housegoose to keep a date in the Twelfth Club championships. It seems the padre was merely keeping an appointment with one of his regular customers at 1818. The D.A. incidentally added the padre, 2 up, in a thrilling match, after being three down at the turn. Burt Haver and Ken Wood sitting in the municipal stadium grandstand looking forlorn without their fivers.

Headline—Golf Society Head Will Be Given Boost. . . It's bound to be tough on his neck.

Somehow or other, this direct quote sneaked into a softball report submitted by Sonny Woods of Royal Grill: "The Fuller team could really field some mighty fine basketball players, but unfortunately the game is played with a softball."

Harry Mondel, who labored like a mountain to bring forth the Exzard Charles-Jersey Joe Walcutt mouse in the role of drum beater, offers this gem on the forthcoming Willie Pop-Eddie Compo (ever hear of him?) featherweight title bout on July 28 in Waterbury: "Willie Pop caught my brother Johnny when he was on his way out and gave him a licking; now I'm on my way up the ladder and I expect to beat Pop and win the title."

Compo speaking.

COLONIAL CAPERS: Les Osterman, hustling president of the Bristol Owls, leading the Colonial League in attendance, is a member of the New York Stock Exchange and is a partner in a Wall street brokerage firm. Bill Swacki, the former All-American end at Columbia University, leaves the Stamford Pioneers on August 1 to report to the New York Football Giants training camp. Joe Glenn, Stamford Pioneer manager, who was hospitalized for three weeks with a broken knee-cap, was rushed to a hospital on July 11 suffering from pleurisy. Jim Gordon, the Negro first sacker-pitcher, came to the Colonials by way of Newburgh. Bristol Owls bidding furiously for Hamilton Graham and Danny Perlmutter. They would give Rebel Rowe and catcher La France, and cash or will pay straight cash for either. If the Colonials make that deal they should include a padlock in the transaction. They'll need it for the stadium.

Davi Shows Up With Full Team

The most important feature of last night's City League contest between Chez Emile and Boulevard Gulf was the fact that Fred Davi showed up with a whole ball club.

The results, however, followed a deadly monotonous pattern as Lefty Joe Jordan four-hit the Davi team into a 11-4 setback, their fourth straight loss in the second round.

Meanwhile, the Cheezies pounded Jim Galvin; Davi's Negro National League importation, for 14 safeties in a game that was halted at the end of six frames by the onrushing darkness.

Everybody hits
Six members of the Chez Emile squad connected for two hits each. Cassidy, Shattan, Scheffel, Vertel, Lowe and Jordan. Shattan was the Boulevard batting star with a double and single.

Boulevard's nicked Jordan for a single run in the first inning but the Cheezies bounced back to rack up four in the second, a couple in the third and then five in the top of the sixth.

While Galvin took a heavy pounding and stayed in the box, Davi made several changes in the outfield and infield defenses. A total of nine errors were committed by both teams, Chez being charged with four and Davi's with five.

The Gullman came right back Monday evening against the Colonial Merchants in the Battle for the Cellular.

Major League Roundup

BY JACK HAND
Howie Pollet, who peddles insurance for skipper Eddie Dyer in the winter, is selling many National League fans a pennant policy on the St. Louis Cardinals.

The slim left-handed pitcher is helping boss Dyer meet his premiums as Card manager with a fine 12-5 record that makes him top winner in the league.

He lost his first two this season and readily retired to the bullpen to find his stuff. After four relief jobs he found the old 1946 pennant charm. Back on the starting routine May 14 he edged Pittsburgh and then lost a heart breaker, 2-0 to Brooklyn.

Since that loss to the Dodgers he has been a whiz, winning 11 of 13 including three shutouts over Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Edge Robin Roberts
Pollet and Robin Roberts hooked up in 0-0 duel in Philly last night just like the one Lanier lost to Ken Heintzelman Thursday night on a 1-0 score. It went down to the seventh with no score until Pollet's single drove home Eddie Kazak who had walked. Joe Garagiola's single had moved Kazak around into scoring position. That was all the scoring of another 1-0 game.

Another veteran Cardinal of the old pennant-winning days, Enos Slaughter, robbed the Phils of two scoring chances with sensational catches on Richie Ashburn and Willie Jones.

Brooklyn's lead remained at 1½ games because the Dodgers helped Don Newcombe hobble home to his seventh win with homers by Tommy Brown, Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson.

Warren Spahn of Boston, victim of four unearned runs in the first inning of Tuesday's All-Star game, had errorless support from the Braves in his 6-1 win over Chicago. Spahn hit a double home run in the second off Warren Hacker.

Boston clubbed the Cub pitchers for 13 hits, four by Pete Reiser, Jeff Heath, playing his first regular game since he broke his ankle just before the World Series last fall, rapped one single.

The Pittsburgh-New York game was rained out and rescheduled to make a doubleheader today.

Lopat Hints Shutout
Another shutout pitching job stretched the New York Yankees' American League lead to 6½ games. Eddie Lopat blanked the St. Louis Browns, 6-0, while runner-up Cleveland lost to Philadelphia 8-0.

Yogi Berra, who never hit a home run in the home town of St. Louis finally made the grade with two blasts while Lopat turned in a five-hit, Allie Reynolds blanked the cellar club Thursday night with only three hits.

The A's knocked Cleveland's Bobby Feller out of the box, ruining his five-game win streak with an 8-0 shutout. Dick Fowler supposedly troubled by a sore arm, made the home champs look bad with a seven-hitter that broke a Tribe four-game win string.

Boston's fancy eight-game win spurge was halted by Detroit on a four-run rally in the ninth inning, 8-7.

Washington came up with a big eighth inning, scoring six runs to dump Chicago, 9-4.

The IBM Country Club women defeated Wiltwyck, 12 to 6, in a team match at the Poughkeepsie links Tuesday. The Wiltwyck tandems of Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Black and Mrs. Whiters—Mrs. Feyer were their matches. A return match will be played at Wiltwyck in August.

Julie Laviano submitted his resignation as manager of the Kingston Colonials and veteran second baseman, Eddie McNamara, was appointed his temporary successor following a stormy three-hour meeting between club officials and members of the Colonial Booster Club Friday afternoon at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

President Ted Laviano said McNamara, the oldest player on the roster in length of service, would handle the Colonials in week-end games against Waterbury and Bridgeport.

$200,000 Fire

Danbury, Conn., July 16 (AP)—About 20 families were left homeless today as a result of a general alarm fire—one of the worst in this city's history—which swept through four buildings in the heart of the business section. The loss was unofficially estimated at $200,000. Acting Fire Chief John H. Ireland said the blaze was touched off by the explosion of an oil drum stored on a wooden porch at the rear of one of the buildings.
